

The SeniorChannel project has been selected to participate to the final session of the AAL Award 2012 in Eindhoven.

This award is intended to recognize the most promising project of the Ambient Assisted Living Joint Programme that demonstrates great promise in terms of innovation, human-centric approaches to development and market potential.

SeniorChannel will be presenting during the final which will be held during the AAL Forum 2012 on the 25th of September.